2023 HIGHLIGHTS

GHANA, JANUARY 2023

The RWF Team was back in the field in January 2023, for a monitoring trip to Ghana, with the following findings:

- Construction and installation of boreholes: Apron has good slope for run-off to avoid stagnant water, good masonry work, Afridev hand pumps easy to use, good site selections.
- Installation of faucets and hand washing stations, especially in CHP compounds.
- Mobilization of communities (can tell everyone received WASH training and were involved in well construction process). Clearing of roads, maintenance of well apron, digging trenches, addition of rocks around well, cleaning polytanks, replacing filters, etc.
- WASH training completed and formation of WATSANS for maintenance/management of well.
- Communication to communities regarding who to call when something breaks.
- Encouraging sense of ownership within communities (determining user fees, locking the source, adding rocks around well, etc.)
- DONA keeping RWF well-informed on project activities and country issues (i.e., Jacobu Kontenase community updates, black flies in summer months, etc.).

FROM RYAN

I still remember the very first donation we received for the Ryan's Well project.

I was working hard doing all sorts of different chores around my neighborhood and it was going slowly, to say the least, I didn't know if we would ever get the funds for the well. Then one day I received a cheque for $20 from a neighbour I worked for but as a donation instead. My parents then had to explain to me what a cheque was and I remember I was over the moon! We were that much closer to the well and sure enough; with a lot more help, a year later we were able to put in a well that lead to so much more and changed the world.

To all of our supporters, donors and monthly donors: thank you. Thank you for dreaming of a world where everyone can have access to clean water, and for taking action to make it happen. We've never been more excited and more efficient in getting people in this world clean accessible water.

Thank you for joining us in making that happen!

Ryan
